

I am a long haul trucker. Local radio stations do not supply on demand traffic info that I can count on getting when I need it. I can constantly scan for local news on my am or fm while driveing in heavy traffic, distracting my attention from the road, or I can tune to a specific XM station and get the info I need when I need it.

As for weather info, NOAA can't be beat.